

AWESOME.

"I tell you, I stand before this painting, awed!"

"No!"

"Yes, sir. It gives me a new notion of Omnipotence."

"Well, I declare!"

"Only to think, sir, that the Lord could make a sunset like that, if He chose!"

Sunflower Philosophy

Atchinson Globe.

It is not polite to call a man Aleck unless that is his name.

When a man asks you, "Well, how's everything?" he usually knows.

Tell a bad story without names, and everyone has an enemy to attribute it to.

The number of men who are willing to sit on a keg of powder and play with matches is surprising.

You may be invited to ride to the polls in a hack, but you can bet you will not be invited to ride home.

When a woman admires an article in a store, and then finds it is very costly, she regards that as proof that she has good taste.

A man who knows the standing of the baseball clubs in the National league, acts as superior as a woman does who keeps up on "art."

The owner of a runaway horse is as certain to say the horse is gentle as the owner of a vicious dog is certain to say the dog is harmless.

The mean cynic is of more use in the world than the fellow who is always trying to agree with you when you know yourself that you are wrong.

We all pay an impudent collector quicker than we pay the man who treats us with great consideration, and gives us our own time in which to pay.

The best teachers in your community are the men known to be honest and worthy, and who say nothing. Watch them, and profit by their example.

We men are a wonderful lot, of course, but the statistics of life insurance companies show that thirty out of forty of us are buried at somebody else's expense.

THE INFALLIBLE EDITOR.

"Lafcadie Hearn, that wonderful writer, worked on newspapers in his youth," said a publisher, "and the ruthless way his stories were changed, cut and butchered was a great woe to his heart."

"In after years Hearn took a malicious joy in collecting stories about editors—editors and their superior and omniscient way with manuscript."

"One of his stories was of an editor to whom a subscriber said:

"I enjoyed that poem on the three ages of man in today's paper, Mr. Sheers; I enjoyed it immensely. Do you know, though, I thought that it was originally written the seven ages of man?"

"So it was, sir; so it was," said Editor Sheers promptly. "Yes, the extract was originally written the seven ages of man, but I had to cut it down for lack of space."

"Another story concerned a weather report. A reporter, discussing the weather, wrote that winter still lingered in the lap of spring."

"The editor, as he read over the article, called the reporter up to his desk and told him that he would cut out that sentence about winter lingering in the spring's lap. He said the idea was good enough, and original, and all that sort of thing; but it would not do to publish it because the high moral tone of the paper had to be maintained in a town full of high school girls."

A very mild north of England vicar had for some time been displeased with the quality of the milk served him. At length he determined to remonstrate with his milkman for supplying such weak stuff. He began mildly: "I've been wanting to see you in regard to the quality of milk with which you are serving me." "Yes, sir," uneasily answered the tradesman. "I only wanted to say," continued the minister, "that I use the milk for dietary purposes exclusively, and not for christening."

Dr. Dosem and His Hobby the Drug Bottle

"If the regular physician would trust more in nature and less in drugs his patients would stay well when they get well," said Dr. Hall in his office yesterday.

"The great trouble is that when a doctor writes a prescription he uses too much poison. Now, poison never cures anybody. It kills a great many."

"My way of treating human weaknesses and pain is to restore the human strength, wherever lost. Nature will cure the disease if she has the strength. I give her the strength, and that is why I am so successful."

"I've used drugs as much as any doctor, but that was a long time ago. I have a better way now. I know that electricity is the foundation of human vitality, so I give my patients electricity, and cure them."

"I have perfected my body battery so that it conveys a stream of electric life direct to the part that is ailing. I treat every case individually, not generally, so the great force of current goes where it is needed and none is wasted."

"I am curing men of general nervous weakness, of rheumatism, kidney troubles, stomach troubles, and of many special ailments, who had wasted their earnings for years on drugs without getting benefit. I cure them while they sleep by restoring vigorous strength to every ailing part of the body."

"Electro-Vigor will cure any case of weakness. It will restore vitality to any man who is run down and exhausted."

Electro-Vigor is a body battery made up of separate dry cells. It is easily and comfortably worn next to the body during the night and gives out a continuous stream of that strength-building, nerve-feeding force which is the basis of all health. Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt—there is no charging to do, no vinegar or acid to bother with. You simply buckle Electro-Vigor about your waist when you retire, turn on the current, and all night long while you sleep it pours a glowing electric current into the nerves, muscles and vitals.

The first time I applied Electro-Vigor my lame back was relieved, and one by one the rheumatism, constipation and kidney trouble were cured and the losses checked.

I give Electro-Vigor credit for doing what no doctor could do and what I have spent hundreds of dollars in vain effort to accomplish.

GUS ODMAN,
Walnut Grove, Cal.

I think Electro-Vigor is the most wonderful thing in the world, for it cured me of dropsy, catarrh, rheumatism and a weakness which made life miserable for me. The doctors said I would be dead long ago, but Electro-Vigor has restored me to robust health and I give it credit for saving my life.

J. W. LUNBECK,
Santa Cruz, Cal.
